VEGAN BEAUTY BRUSH AND POCKET SPA

Blog | 2 Comments

Recently at Smashbox Studios for a print shoot, I found myself in the the company of another Conscious Cutie. Kelley Quan. Kelley is a make-up artist who is equally as beautiful as she is talented. She has been in the make-up biz for twenty years and has created her own line of quality Vegan Beauty Brushes that are Peta certified. All while creating a gadget, I can't live without, the Pocket Spa.

Lucky me, I had a chance to take her brushes for a test drive. I was surprised to see how the brushes melted the make-up on my skin like silk without leaving any unwanted hairs behind on my face. Most high-end brushes use different furs from animals to create an even finish on the skin. Since I am eco-chic I use synthetic brushes, but normally they tend to shed and leave me picking hairs off my face all day. I hate when that happens!! The best part about Kelley's brushes is that they combine the same feel as high-end animal fiber brushes without the mess. Amazing!!.

So, what does that mean for you? These carefully refined synthetic combinations enable each brush to deposit makeup in the same manner as regular manufactured (real animal fur) brushes. The results are a luxurious application of make-up. Not to mention, hypo-allergenic and cruelty-free. I love the fact that you can get the same high-end look and feel while helping the environment and not harming animals. Go Kelley Quan! These brushes have changed a part of my beauty regimen forever.

Pocket Spa

However, I saved the best for last. Kelley's Pocket Spa is a mystifying Goddess. It runs on AAA batteries and is no bigger than the size of two lipsticks in my purse. It emits a superfine mist of either water or floral hydrants that feels soothing and refreshing. Ultimately leaving my skin dewy. Who wouldn't want that?! Kelley created the Pocket Spa to use before and/or after make-up application. It is a great addition to my make-up regimen and my fresh look lasts all day.
